Dear [Redacted]

STAT

It is a distinct pleasure for me to express my personal thanks, and the thanks of the faculty and student body, for your fine presentation concerning "The Director of Central Intelligence and his Support Staff" given on October 18, 1982. The presentation contributed significantly toward the achievement of our educational objectives in the Postgraduate Intelligence Program.

Your lecture was extremely interesting and informative. It gave our students an excellent insight into the organization and mission of a vital segment of the National Foreign Intelligence Community.

Additionally, your thorough knowledge of the subject and capable delivery made this presentation a valuable contribution to the program. Students especially appreciated the time allotted to answering their questions.

Please accept our sincere appreciation for your continuing support. You have done much to maintain the high quality of instruction at the Defense Intelligence School.

Sincerely,

L. D. BADGETT
